

Strategies for the High Cost of College

- Most families will need to prioritize the various strategies above to afford the high costs of college. Work with your advisor to weigh the pros/cons of each strategy as well as the timeline and execution.
- There are college consultants that work with families to find colleges within their budget and a good fit for their child's interests and goals. Some are available for a flat fee or hourly rate. They may help with the application process, work different strategies, and explore angles to find available scholarship money and financial aid. SWM has relationships with consultants who can help.
